

Sinclair Broadcasting apparently intends to run the anti-Kerry propaganda piece Stolen Honor on its three-score and four stations. While I usually applaud stations that air controversial programs, airing one that is intended to influence the outcome of our Presidential election is unconscionable and, I believe, illegal. Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is charged by law to serve the public interest. Partisan programming is not in the public interest.

Sinclair they should be required to run Going Upriver adjacent to Stolen Honor, or they should be forbidden from running either. I would prefer they run them both, because of the opportunity it will provide the public to engage in a little contrast and compare between styles of propaganda--something they seldom get.

Sincerely,
Paul Cox
